AAUW Excellence in Science & Mathematics Award Luncheon

What: The 13th annual event honors outstanding 11th grade girls who excel in science and mathematics from each high school in Delaware. The young women will attend our luncheon for free, and will have the opportunity to interact with female role models and mentors in the areas of Science, Technology, Engineering and Technology. Exhibits highlighting STEM careers and a tour of our host school, Delaware State University, will be available for our honorees and their parents. Additionally, our speaker, Dr. Tracey Marshall-Underwood, will provide insight into her career as an Optometrist in Dover and her research in the field of "Pigment Dispersion among the African-American Community."

Why: We are looking for AAUW branches , individual members and others to sponsor one or more of our honorees. We hope that this experience will encourage these young women to explore careers in the STEM fields.

When: Sunday, April 15, 2011 12:30-3 PM Please, consider attending this inspiring event!

Where: Delaware State University, Martin Luther King Student Center, Parlor A 1200 N. DuPont Highway, Dover, Delaware. Parking is free.
